Body camera! Trump says so. Catch the abuse they heap on us!

"Hey Siri, I'm getting pulled over" or "Hey Google, start recording." Or don't rely on cucked services that will be down/hard to use in the noise and prepare an old phone before or specialized camera for "vlogging or lifelogging" (I saw $50 wearable cameras for longer-term filming) Train to quickly turn it on as soon as you see even a hint of conflict. You're trying to catch the first blow

Other body cam tips: using "a fully charged old phone (with the recording time limit off) and an extra battery pack, a case, and some Velcro strips from walmart anyone can rig something together. - User KAGMAGIC2020

The bigger your group the better, 3 people is the absolute minimum. keep a video on antifa and especially the police at all times. Keep someone with first aid training in each group.

Extras

Comprehensive list on how to stay safe in DC. Every thing from electronics to guns or dealing with the Cops

Skateboards double as a shield, umbrellas provide visual cover and defense against light objects like gravel.

Pouring water on tear gas canisters neutralizes them, particularly if you place a traffic cone over it first and pour into the hole.

Gas masks should be legal in public and could never hurt to have around. Somebody has to put the cone on top.

Fireblankets, extinguishers for the obvious.

Pack full sets of gear for as many others as you can afford to transport. Unity wins. Worst case scenario is that you double your supplies.

In case anyone thinks sleeping pads are for wimps (I used to) - It's cold at night in DC this time of year. A sleeping pad is to insulate your body from the ground, not to provide cushion. It keeps the ground from sapping your body heat at night. The homeless use cardboard/newspapers for the same effect.

The only time I ever used a sleeping pad I was about fifteen years old. I slipped off of it, lost my sleeping bag, and woke up half frozen and half asleep. Crawled around in the dark trying to find it amongst the 30 other people packed like sardines.

Elbowed a few people in the face. Never found it. Curled up freezing and waited for morning.

Never using one again even if it was my fault for not zipping my bag.

well to really protect yourself from a LRAD you need full over-ear protection. that's $$$$. however you should grab a couple bags of these at a home dumpto on your way.

<https://www.homedepot.com/p/3M-Orange-Disposable-Ear-Plugs-80-Pack-92800-80-6DC/202691611>

Pass out to everyone you see. It won't be great if you are close to the LRAD but from farther out it will help, and it will also help prevent permanent hearing damage, which will happen if you are too close to it.

permalink parent save report block reply

▲ 11 ▼

– Scumcunt 11 points 10 hours ago +11 / -0

The goals posts have already been moved so many times, and so many people are scheduling a day or two off work and booking 3 days in a DC hotel for the 6th. I'm afraid a lack of a clear "zero hour" is going to de facto move the clock back to 1/20. And I'm not sure we can muster a second wave as big as this one to DC.

When, exactly, does the solution move to the ammo box? When it's clear Pence isn't going to just remedy this himself? (I personally think that is already clear, but many get downvoted for saying that). When it's clear by oral arguments that Hawley's objections are going down in the senate? When it's clear we have lost the House? After Pence 'certifies' the votes? Some other incident?

I'm earnestly saying this because we need clarity and uniformity on when (if?) this becomes an offensive action. Our worst case scenario is guns start going off because of an ANTIFA/LE-instigated skirmish.

Like it or not, those of us heading to DC are not a "well regulated militia" we have plenty of ideological cohesion and unity of purpose, which is hugely important, but very little practical cohesion.

History tells us that professional armies and mercenaries with very little more than a promise of a paycheck can perform very well when properly equipped and trained. Guerrilla tactics can also have success with the support of the local populace, but even with widespread election fraud, the DC/NOVA/MD region is 3-1 against us.

It's totally possible I've gotten too deep into considering this and I'm LARPing now. If so, ignore me. But I'm convinced these are questions we need to be asking ourselves, at least personally, so we understand clearly how far each of us is willing to go.

– Ched 4 points 8 hours ago +4 / -0

When, exactly, does the solution move to the ammo box?

With a Boston Massacre. It's terrible to say it, but people on our side will have to die first before we have a serious claim to the ammo box. In my opinion.

That is a crap attitude. True, people aren't acting on the info as fast as we want/need, but a LOT has happened.

Crap tons of evidence has been brought to light.

Enemies have been identified, as have allies.

Citizen support has been established, and a lot of people have been redpilled.

We are still discovering just how deep the rabbit hole goes, never would have known the complete corruption of SCOTUS, or 3/4 of the Judicial.

We just found out about CA massive fraud, that is a battle that could take months, even if the President focussed just on them.

AND, Pedes and norms are whipped up enough that converging on DC now means something, and will be productive. Legislatures are finally seeing reality, at least some of them.

It may not be the act III action scene You wanted, but don't cheapen what has been accomplished

This election has proven that five states can stop counting at the same time, because of a faucet leaking in one building in one county, and you can have video footage of all the observers getting kicked out, and then when it's down to just a few Democrats in the room on their own, one of them can reach under a table and pull out 100 pounds of ballots and resume counting for a few hours....and even after all that...people will still say there was no voter fraud.

If you explain all that to someone, and they still want the election to be stolen from Trump, then they are officially anti-American.

They have chosen their side.

It's set up as a win-win scenario for China at this point. That was the plan all along, and it took them literally generations to get us here. The best case scenario for them though is still no violence. There's a chance we win or at least preserve some notion of freedom in part of the world, and that will always condemn them to be second best.

Absolutely the "best case" scenario is a Trump win even though it would result in months of chaos and a window of opportunity for China to grab a few of their goals (e.g., Taiwan). But that window of opportunity would close and China would be in a worse position long term.

I don't want to underestimate them, fools do that, but I think in a conflict we'd definitely have the superior force.

Could be a bunch returning from leave, but there are so many and they are all in line together with their supervisors so it doesn't really seem like they are coming home from leave.

When they play it, he should demand to see their evidence of fraud in majority white areas. Then they either they have nothing, and have to shut the fuck up, or they sacrifice more minions so they have their antiracist balance. In the second case we get a big win, because weve got lots of evidence and theyve got to produce lots of their own to balance it. In the first case, we get an even bigger win, because they will effectively prove black communities are more corruptable and that it's a big problem.

Gentlemen,

I have your letter of the 11th, in the nature of a petition to revoke my orders removing all the inhabitants from Atlanta. I have read it carefully, and give full credit to your statements of the distress that will be occasioned, any yet shall not revoke my orders, because they were not designed to meet the humanities of the case, but to prepare for the future struggles in which millions of good people outside of Atlanta have a deep interest. We must have Peace, not only in Atlanta, but in All America. To secure this, we must stop the war that now desolates our once happy and favored country. To stop war, we must defeat the rebel armies which are now arrayed against the laws and Constitution that all must respect and obey. To defeat those armies, we must prepare the way to reach them in their recesses, provided with the arms and instruments which enable us to accomplish our purpose. Now I know the vindictive nature of our enemy, that we may have many years of military operations from this quarter; and, therefore, deem it wise and prudent to prepare in time. The use of Atlanta for warlike purposes is inconsistent with its character as a home for families. There will be no manufactures, commerce, or agriculture here, for the maintenance of families, and sooner or later want will compel the inhabitants to go. Why no go now, when all the arrangements are completed for the transfer, instead of waiting till the plunging shot of contending armies will renew the scenes of the past month? Of course, I do not apprehend any such thing at this moment, but you do not suppose this army will be here until the war is over. I cannot discuss this subject with you fairly, because I cannot impart to you what we propose to do, but I assert that our military plans make it necessary for the Inhabitants to go away, and I can only renew my offer of services to make their exodus in any direction as easy and comfortable as possible. You cannot qualify war in harsher terms than I will. War is cruelty, and you cannot refine it; and those who brought war into our Country deserve all the curses and maledictions a people can pour out. I know I had no hand in making this war, and I know I will make more sacrifices to-day than any of you to Secure Peace. But you cannot have Peace and a Division of our Country. If the United States submits to a Division now it will not stop, but will go on until we reap the fate of Mexico, which is Eternal War. The United States does and must assert its authority, wherever it once had power; for, if it relaxes one bit to pressure, it is gone, and I believe that such is the National Feeling. This Feeling assumes various shapes, but always comes back to that of Union. Once admit the Union, once more acknowledge the Authority of the National Government, and, instead of devoting your houses and streets and roads to the dread uses of war, I and this army become at once your protectors and supporters, shielding you from danger, let it come from what quarter it may. I know that a few individuals cannot resist a torrent of error and passion, such as swept the South into rebellion, but you can point out, so that we may know those who desire a government, and those who insist on war and its desolation.

You might as well appeal against the thunder-storm as against these terrible hardships of war. They are inevitable, and the only way the people of Atlanta can hope once more to live in peace and quiet at home, is to stop the war, which can only be done by admitting that it began in error and is perpetuated in pride. We don't want your negroes, or your horses, or your houses, or your hands, or any thing that you have, but we do want and will have a just obedience to the laws of the United States. That we will have, and, if it involves the destruction of your improvements, we cannot help it. You have heretofore read public sentiment in your newspapers, that live by falsehood and excitement; and the quicker you seek for truth in other quarters, the better.

I repeat then that, by the original compact of Government, the United States had certain rights in Georgia, which have never been relinquished and never will be; that the South began war by seizing forts, arsenals, mints, custom-houses, etc., etc., long before Mr. Lincoln was installed, and before the South had one jot or title of provocation. I myself have seen in Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Mississippi, hundreds of thousands of women and children fleeing from your armies and desperadoes, hungry and with bleeding feet. In Memphis, Vicksburg, and Mississippi, we fed thousands upon thousands of families of rebel soldiers left in our hands, and whom we could not see starve. Now that war comes home to you, you feel very different. You depreciate its horrors, but did not feel them when you sent car-loads of soldiers and ammunition, and moulded shells and shot, to carry war into Kentucky and Tennessee, to desolate the homes of hundreds of thousands of good people who only asked to live in peace at their old homes, and under the Government of their inheritance. But these comparisons are idle. I want peace, and believe it (can) only be reached through union and war, and I will ever conduct war with a view to perfect and early success.

But my dear sirs when Peace does come, you may call on me for any thing-Then I will share with you the last cracker, and watch with you to shield your homes and families against danger from every quarter.

Now you must go, and take with you the old and feeble, feed and nurse them, and build for them, in more quiet places, proper habitations to shield them against the (wea)ther until the mad passions of men cool down, and allow the Union and (pe)ace once more to settle over your old homes at Atlanta. Yrs., in haste,

W.T. Sherman

It's cute how they think we're going to just forget all this and go back to voting for RINOs on RIGGED machines. Joke's on them. Just more fuel for the fire.

You think they are going to rig an election and then let you fix it in court or anywhere else?

They are at war, wake up.

It seems like the only thing left to is discount all of Fulton county's votes.

They want to play this game, fine. They keep the process in limbo that is exactly why the votes shouldn't be accepted on the 6th. Use their own tactics against them.

Jovan says he's done some of this already. Not sure what ballots he got his hands on, or if he really did, but here's his words:

<https://twitter.com/JovanHPulitzer/status/1346111713045839872>

Can confirm my team has been provided evidence of mail in ballots with the votes already filled in BY MACHINE. More than one instance of has occurred and it shows the voting machines can read and do accept MACHINE FILLED IN MECHANICAL BALLOTS more soon #ScanTheBallots

The key thing to remember is that the establishment isn't just anti-Trump. They loathe WE THE PEOPLE. This is true with all swamp from the county level and up.

Fight them at all levels. Pay attention to local elections.

This is like a murderer getting off because when the cops came to his house he said “you can investigate everywhere but you can’t look in my closet.” Which is where said murderer hid the body.

Fucking clown world.

Seems pretty fucking obvious they rigged it in Fulton since they are doing everything in their power to stop anyone from looking at anything that was done there. Same shit with Maricopa county, Detroit, and Philadelphia. Nobody is allowed to look at anything there and they'll move heaven and earth to keep people from looking.

I believe they cancelled it because they got caught shredding evidence.

Anything they said in that meeting would be considered admissible. So they ran. Like the chicken shits they are.

Remind the good General to start his burnin' at the Fulton County line. We here in North GA are solid patriots! I'd expect he get a lot of volunteers as he comes down I-75 South.
